MASTER MINDS OF DEMOCRACY ON BALLOTFIELD

McAdoo and Brennan Reach Gotham.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING. (Picture on back page.) New York, June 18.—[Special.]—The masterminds of the Democratic nomination convention are now on the scene.

William Gibbs McAdoo, millionaire champion of the common people, reached New York to assume personal direction of his campaign for the nomination for President, arriving in a private car, encountering a tumultuous reception by thousands at the railway station, proceeding like a twentieth century Caesar behind a band with flags fluttering and crowds cheering to the Vanderbilt hotel, where after more demonstrations and addresses and interviews he took up his residence in the Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt suite.

His Had a Taste of Glory. If he never gets any nearer the presidency than he is right now Mr. McAdoo will know what it feels like to be a conquering hero.

In sharp contrast with the entrance of Caesar was the arrival of Napoleon, by whom, of course, we mean the Hon. George E. Brennan of Chicago, the Illinois leader, who is generally recognized as the new big boss of the Democratic party since the passing of Charles F. Murphy—Brennan the master political strategist in whose quarters near the hotel, in Madison Avenue Garden, the negotiations for President and Vice President probably will be agreed on at the propitious moment and later ratified on the floor of the convention.

Slips Quietly Onto Scene. Mr. Brennan, accompanied by Mrs. Brennan and their daughter, slipped quietly into New York and was installed in his suite at the Waldorf before his coming was generally known. Mr. Brennan's program was given out following the first big conference of the leaders opposing McAdoo.

It is to eliminate McAdoo if it is necessary to stay here two weeks to do it.

It is to nominate Gov. Al Smith of New York, if that is humanly possible.

It is, if that is not possible, to pick the most available dark horse.

As to his notion of an attractive dark horse, it is said that Mr. Brennan's first choice is Mayor Dever of Chicago and his second choice Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

McAdoo Starts Talking. Mr. McAdoo commenced operations by discoursing at some length upon the inequities and reactionary tendencies of the Republican party and the necessity of offering by the Democratic party of an exceedingly strong progressive and liberal platform if it would give the people a real alternative to the Coolidge-Dawes ticket.

He enumerated his platform in 200 words and adjured his political brethren to nominate a progressive—not, of course, meaning himself necessarily, but any of the numerous progressives in the field of aspirants—all good men, you understand.

Mr. Brennan said nothing except: "We Democrats are here to nominate a winning ticket, and I have not a doubt in the world that we shall succeed. Unlike the Republicans, we are blessed with a considerable number of outstanding men, every one of whom is qualified to be President."

Party Rich in Slatemen. "If there should be difficulty or delay in naming the ticket it will be the result of our embarrassment of riches."

The eyes of Napoleon twinkled under their shaggy brows. "Then you don't look for a nomination on an early ballot?" Mr. Brennan was asked.

"No," he replied, thoughtfully flicking his cigar ash. "I do not look for nomination on the fifth ballot, or even the tenth ballot. Nobody knows how much longer than that it will take."

ITALIAN HERO HALTS CHICAGO WIFE ON U.S. BOAT

ROME, June 18.—Gen. Pier Ruggero Piccio, one of the aces of the war and now commander of Italian aeronautics, succeeded, after a hurried trip to Naples, in stopping his wife, who was Miss Lucinda Bachelder of Chicago, and their child from sailing for the United States aboard the steamer Martha Washington.

The couple were married several years ago and almost immediately disagreements arose. There was a lively scene at Paris, where Laurens Morgan Hamilton, grandson of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, gave a dinner in their honor. Gen. Piccio, it is related, knocked his wife down in the presence of the host and guests. Mr. Hamilton put Piccio out of the house, and the next day Piccio challenged him to a duel. But Mr. Hamilton, in accordance with the laws and customs of his country, declined the issue. Instead he informed the Italian ambassador of the whole affair.

Gen. Piccio and his wife then separated, and the latter began proceedings for a divorce. One day during her absence from her father's apartment, Piccio had the furniture and valuables removed, and also the child, and came to Italy.

The Rome court granted a separation, awarding the child to the mother, who a few days ago decided to return to America definitively with the child. She went to Naples for this purpose, but Piccio, learning of her intent, hastened to the port, reaching there in time to prevent her departure. He maintained that a child should live with the father's reach.

Letter Bears Death Threat to McAndrew

Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew and his family were threatened with violence, even to the point of death, in a letter received by the superintendent, it was revealed yesterday.

The letter, evidently the work of a "crank," declares that the "junior high affair" climaxes the actions of the superintendent and advises him to pack up quietly and resign in a few days or he will be "dead in a very short time."

The letter is written on ordinary folded note paper in a fairly legible hand. It is signed "Watch out!!!"

It follows: "You are sending you a fair warning to let you know how very near dismissal you are. We are tired of you, you rotten, deceitful Scotchman. Go back to where you came from or we will kick your head off your shoulders. Who told a dunce of an old man like you to come and rule our schools. It must have been another crazy man like yourself that brought you here."

"You showed us show what you are able to do, and that is nothing. Get out or we will get your head blown off your shoulders. If you are playing the fool for some one else we know what you had better do for yourself if your life is not insured. You will be dead in a very short time. Remember this is not a joke. We have been watching you for you to tame down, but you have not as yet done so."

Family Also Threatened. "You did your goose with the junior high affair. So your days are numbered. Don't forget just a few days to think about everything. You don't know what is coming, but watch out. Even if you are old, we will get you and your family and you will be going on until it will be too late to wait any longer."

"Just pack up your trunk and resign quietly and tell the people you are not well and cannot attend duties." (Signed) "Watch Out!!!!"

IRENE CASTLE TO SEA WITH BOOK ON MOTHERHOOD

New York, June 18.—Irene Castle McLaughlin of Chicago left for Europe today on the steamship Aquitania.

"I'm through with the stage, dancing, and movies forever," she said, smiling at her husband.

Her husband, Frederic McLaughlin, handed her a book and she thrust it quickly under her arm. But its title was seen. It read:

"Getting Ready to Be a Mother." "I'll be back in four weeks," she called as she disappeared into her stateroom.

Her husband remained in New York.

Mrs. John Erickson, 365 Hill street, was knocked down by two men last night at West Elm and Sedgwick streets. They grabbed her pocketbook and ran. Hugo Achino, 14 years old, was a witness. He ran ahead of one of the robbers, darted into a hallway, and when the robber came by jumped him. He held him for the police. At the station the man gave his name as Joseph Airdred. He had the pocketbook, containing $65. Hugo lives at 823 Orleans street.

SOLVE THEFT OF $2,075,000 FROM MAILOS

4 of Gang Caught; Four Sought.

Spectacular police work in exposing the planning and staging of the $2,075,000 mail robbery and of police activities in running down four of the participants came to light yesterday simultaneously with the announcement that the crime was solved.

Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins made public the names of all the conspirators, four of whom are now being sought. The plot was hatched in East St. Louis, Ill., he said, by Max Greenberg, former leader of "Egan's Rats," and carried out with the assistance of Chicago gunmen.

Saved Wounded Man; Lost. The first misstep in an otherwise perfectly planned and executed robbery was the shooting of one of the bandits. As two of his brothers were present, he was not killed outright, and his body left there as would have been done otherwise, Chief Collins explained. Because of this circumstance the police were enabled to capture four of the participants.

Men Who Are Wanted. Chief Collins then sent out a message to police chiefs and sheriffs to arrest the following men:

ERNEST FONTANA, 25 years old, 5 feet 7 inches, 140 pounds, dark chestnut hair, medium olive complexion, born in Chicago. Parents live at 535 Beiden avenue.

SAMUEL GRANT, an escaped convict from Huntville, Tex., who was serving a life term for murder. Born in Clisco, Tex., 38 years old, 6 feet tall, 180 pounds.

"BLACKIE" WILCOX, first name unknown, also an escaped convict, 45 years old, 5 feet 10 inches, 180 pounds.

MAX GREENBERG, ex-leader of "Egan's Rats" of St. Louis, Mo.; description not available; the man who proposed the robbery, chose the personnel, told them what to do and how to do it, but stayed in St. Louis while the crime was being committed.

Seized as Participants. Those under arrest, actual participants, named by the chief are:

CARLOS FONTANA, brother of Ernest and indicted with him for complicity in the Harvey, Ill., mail robbery.

WILLIS NEWTON, an ex-convict, who first gave his name as J. H. Watson, the man who confessed and tried to bribe police officers with $20,000, then with $40,000.

JOE NEWTON, a brother, who when arrested gave his name as John Wade.

WILLIAM NEWTON, an escaped convict, brother of the other two Newtons, the wounded man who said he was John Wayne.

Wanted in Other Thefts. The Newton brothers and the Fontana brothers were involved in both the Harvey, Ill., and the East Chicago, Ind., mail thefts, it was stated yesterday by the officials.

Only the $100,000 found in the automobile deserted near Joliet, Ill., has been recovered. Chief Collins yesterday fixed the present amount of the loss at $75,000 in currency and $2,000,000 in bonds. One missing package contains $500,000 in Liberty bonds, he said.

Collins Starts Story. Chief Collins was in Chief Postal Inspector Albert E. Germer's office when it was decided to allow the public to know the full details. He started to tell the story thus:

"The job was framed in East St. Louis. Greenberg was the leader of 'Egan's Rats' and well known as a firebug, a slick thief, and a fence. Carlos Fontana was known in East St. Louis and Willis Newton had operated in Chicago as a bootlegger and beer runner."

"Take these names as I gave them to a stenographer to send out a police message."

Inspector Germer at this point announced that a warrant had just been issued for James Murray, politician and partner of Joe Stenson in the control of a beer syndicate of Chicago.

"We are not prepared to say right now just what part Murray had in the robbery," Mr. Germer said. Murray's bonds were fixed at $100,000.

Schoemaker Tells Details. Just then Chief Collins was called away and Capt. Schoemaker took up the narrative.

"They all met in Chicago on the morning the job was pulled," Capt. Schoemaker said.

Hartman Son Menaced by Letter, Phone

Police guards were thrown around the home of Irvin H. Hartman, millionaire furniture dealer, last night after a special delivery letter had been received threatening to kidnap Hartman's 10 year old son if a $10,000 demand were not heeded.

The boy, Irvin H. Hartman Jr., is one of several rich men's sons who were selected by Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb as possible subjects for their bizarre experiments in emotions which later led to the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks. He lives at 5117 Ellis avenue, within a block of the Franks home.

While detectives were leaping into action in connection with this latest ransom demand their mystification was intensified by the sudden appearance of a burning cross in a vacant lot at 49th street and Drexel boulevard—only a few blocks from Loeb, Leopold, and Franks' residences.

Draws Big Crowd. The fiery cross appeared as by magic, illuminating the neighborhood for two blocks around. In the space of a few minutes hundreds of motorists and pedestrians, who came from all directions, jammed the sidewalks and the double driveway to stare at the symbol.

"Kluxers," was the word on the spectators' lips.

Police who went to the scene were unable to find any one who could account for the cross. Nobody, apparently, had seen the cross placed in the lot and ignited.

Cops See Blaze Start. Sergt. Frank Ryssel and Policeman C. E. Abbott were standing at the northwest corner of 49th street and Drexel when the fire appeared. They went across to the southeast corner, directly opposite the home of Martin A. Ryerson, millionaire steel man.

The cross stood fifteen feet high and eight feet wide. It was wrapped in cotton, which had been saturated in gasoline. The arms of the symbol were fastened with hinges, so that it could be carried folded until ready to jab into the ground.

The blaze lasted for fifteen minutes, when fire apparatus arrived and extinguished it while the crowd watched.

See Franks Murder Cause. Detectives were inclined to believe that the recent murder of Robert Franks was responsible for the demonstration. They were sure that the cross had been placed there as a warning.

Meanwhile other detectives were seeking the person who sent Mr. Hartman the ransom letter. It arrived about 6 o'clock and was immediately taken over to Detective Chief Michael Hughes. Although the text of the letter was not made public, it was announced that it threatened the kidnapping of young Irvin Hartman unless the $10,000 was paid.

"Details will be given later," the letter concluded.

Uses Phone as Well. A few minutes later the telephone rang and a man's voice repeated the demand over the wire. He said there would be further communications to tell him how the money was to be turned over to the authors of the letter.

Police were inclined to think that this pre-kidnaping ransom demand, so similar in some respects to the letter written to Jacob Franks by Leopold, might have been made on the chance that might cause the parents to comply. They decided to take no chances, however, and a guard was immediately sent to the Hartman home from the Hyde Park station.

To Study Lincoln Trial. Earlier in the day State's Attorney Crowe announced that in preparation for the forthcoming trial of Leopold and Loeb, the three assistants who would prosecute the case will attend the trial of Warren J. Lincoln in Geneva next week. An insanity defense is to be put forward by attorneys for the former Aurora horticulturist and lawyer, and the Cook county prosecutors have been ordered to study the testimony of the alienists carefully. A court reporter will accompany them to take down the proceedings.

The Lincoln and Franks cases are regarded as strikingly similar. Lincoln's hobby was flowers; Leopold's was ornithology. The defendants in both cases are unusually well equipped mentally, the crimes of each were unusual and revolting. Lincoln murdered his wife and brother-in-law and then sealed their heads in a cement block after preparing an "air-tight" alibi. As in the Franks case, the murderer finally confessed.

HUGHES TELLS JAPAN U. S. CAN BAR ANY ALIEN

Right of Selection Upheld in Note.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., June 18.—[Special.]—Formal reply to the protest of the Japanese government against the exclusion provision of the new immigration law is made by Secretary of State Hughes in a note to Mamoru Hanihara, the Japanese ambassador, made public today.

Secretary Hughes expresses appreciation for the voluntary cooperation of the Japanese government in carrying out the gentlemen's agreement of 1907-8 and states that under the circumstances it is proper that the Japanese government should be considered released as from July 1, when the exclusion provision of the immigration act becomes effective, from any further obligation under the old agreement.

Should Not Affect Friendship. "The secretary concludes his letter by expressing the conviction that the recognition of the right of each government to legislate in control of immigration should not detract in any degree from the mutual good will and cordial friendship which have always characterized the relations of the two countries."

Secretary Hughes, after citing the language of the sections which exempt certain classes from the exclusion provision, states that when these exceptions are taken into account the provision does not differ greatly in its practical application or in its policy from the gentlemen's agreement under which the Japanese government cooperated in preventing the emigration of Japanese laborers to this country.

By Law Instead of By Agreement. "The only point of substantial difference he says, is that in the immigration act congress has exercised its prerogative in defining by legislation the control of immigration instead of leaving it to international arrangements."

It is stated that while President Coolidge would have preferred to continue the gentlemen's agreement and to have entered into negotiations for such modifications as might seem to be desirable the American government does not feel that it is limited to such an international arrangement but that on the contrary it always has reserved the right of freedom with respect to control of immigration.

Right to Rule Home Land Inalienable. Reviewing the history of various negotiations and treaties between the United States and Japan, Secretary Hughes shows that the United States always has reserved the right to control immigration and that the Japanese government has repeatedly recognized this fact. It was with this distinct understanding, it is asserted, that the treaty of 1911 was concluded.

"While this government acceded to the arrangement by which Japan undertook to enforce measures designed to obviate the necessity of a statutory enactment, the advisability of such an enactment necessarily remained within the legislative power of this government to determine," says Secretary Hughes.

TEXT OF AMERICAN NOTE Washington, D. C., June 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—The American reply to Japan's protest was as follows:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note under date of May 31 containing a memorandum stating the position of the Japanese government with respect to the provision of section 13 (C) of the immigration act of 1924. I take pleasure in noting your reference to the friendliness and candor in which your communication has been made and you may be assured of the readiness of this government to consider in the same spirit the views you have set forth."

"At the time of the signing of the immigration law the President issued a statement, a copy of which I had the privilege of handing to you, gladly recognizing the fact that the enactment of this provision 'does not imply any change in our sentiment of admiration and cordial friendship for the Japanese people, a sentiment which has had and will continue to have abundant manifestation.' Permit me to state briefly the substance of the provision."

Aliens Who Are Eligible. "Section 13 (C) related to all aliens ineligible to citizenship. It establishes certain exceptions, and to these classes the exclusion provision does not apply, to wit:

"Those who are not immigrants as defined in section 3 of the act; that is, (1) a government official, his family attendants, servants and

REDS WON'T NAME LA FOLLETTE ON 3D PARTY TICKET

Rule Convention but Turn Pale to Placate Pinks.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

St. Paul, Minn., June 18.—[Special.] Senator La Follette will not be nominated, endorsed, or backed by the "third party" in case he becomes a third candidate, according to word passed out late tonight by William Mahoney of St. Paul, impresario of the convention. It was the climax of a day of compromises in which W. Mark Foster and the communists, in complete dominance, yielded here and there, but walked off with the bacon. To "promote unity and peace" and to avoid a bolt, the heads of the workers' party, which is the agent in America of the Moscow Red International, toned the platform to a peach-pinkness, gave way a trifle on the question of organization—all immaterialities—and practically had its own way on the issue of La Follette.

Platform a Medley.
Late tonight the platform was brought forth and read by Joseph Manley, son-in-law of Foster. It proved to be a medley of the platform in vogue among workers' parties, Non-Partisan leagues, and similar radical organizations. It has been toned down however, to make it an appeal to the Farmer-Labor vote, and much of the Muscovite ideas were absent. Manley explained that in the interest of peace and harmony, he, as a Communist on the platform committee, had become "some of the idealists I stand for."

It was right in line with the day's proceedings, which were largely devoted to plastering powder over the issue with the idea that too red a complexion would scare the farmer vote. The Negro question caused a hot debate as soon as the platform draft was read. This contained a plank calling for the breaking down of race prejudice and for "full equality, economic and political for the Negro."

Opposes "Jim Crowism."
It declared against "Jim Crowism" and for equality at all places. At once came a roar from a Texas delegate. He mounted the platform. His name was given as E. R. Metzger.

"There is no prejudice in my mind against any one, black, white, green, red, or yellow," he said. "They all look alike to me. I've no objection to giving the Negro the ballot, but this plank needs modifying. The biggest problem the colored man has is not whether he shall ride on the same street car or eat in the same restaurant as the whites, and any intelligent colored man will tell you that. The colored man is preyed on by white crooks. What's the use of doing something here that will not give any help? It won't help in organizing the sunny south. A motion to send the plank back to committee was voted down overwhelmingly and the plank stands as written. In the hope of cutting into the colored vote in the industrial centers."

Suspicious of Land Plank.
Although the platform had its redness somewhat toned down, the reading of its plank on land tenure caused some of the old farmers to prick up their ears. It urged a system of land tenure to abolish landlordism and tenantry and designed to secure the land to the user. Naturally this stirred up suspicions that it was maybe a plot of deep dark red communism, and delegates began to raise questions as to where it would leave the present owner of farm lands. The discussion was going strong when adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning to give time to print the platform.

RAIL-MEN IN CAPITAL LOAD MADDOO ON A WHITE HOUSE WAY BILL

Washington, D. C., June 18.—[Special.]—William G. McDoo spent fifty minutes in Washington today en route to the Democratic convention in New York, and most of it was on the shoulders of hundreds of railroad employees who met him at the station and announced their intention of carrying him on to the White House in that fashion.

As he was carried through the station, hundreds of rail-employees ran alongside with a gigantic petition in the form of a "way bill."

"What are you going to do, waybill me to the White House?" asked McDoo.

"You bet we are," came the answer, "and you know the way, too." "I do, and I'll obey your orders," was the reply.

He refused to make a speech, but to reporters he said he was not worrying about the two-thirds rule at the convention.

Others on Miss Burroughs' tour were similarly disintegrated. Mrs. Sevey said, "One Miss Katherine O'Laughlin, has brought suit against Miss Burroughs. Included in the group were Miss Emily Rose, daughter of Alexander McKenzie Rose, the Misses Hazel and Martha Erickson of Surf street, Miss Eleanor Curtis of Marquette, and Robert Sands of St. Paul.

MRS. SEVEY SUES 'CONDUCTOR' OF EUROPEAN TOUR

Forced to tour Europe in third class coaches, when one was promised first class compartments, and view in ancient castles in Spain, from afoot, instead of from a comfortable motor, as promised, in the basis of a suit.

Mrs. Sevey, 5337 Hyde Park boulevard, has begun against Miss J. Isadore Burroughs, "personal conductor" of European tours.

Mrs. Sevey, a woman and a leader among Democratic women, asks $1,500 damages from Miss Burroughs to compensate her for part of the money she advanced when the tour was begun and also for expenditures made to restore to health Mrs. Sevey's daughter, who suffered, she charges, from the hardships of the tour.

Others on Miss Burroughs' tour were similarly disintegrated. Mrs. Sevey said, "One Miss Katherine O'Laughlin, has brought suit against Miss Burroughs. Included in the group were Miss Emily Rose, daughter of Alexander McKenzie Rose, the Misses Hazel and Martha Erickson of Surf street, Miss Eleanor Curtis of Marquette, and Robert Sands of St. Paul.

Miss Burroughs, who lives at 206 North Central avenue was employed during the war in Paris by the United States treasury department.

REPUBLIC NEAR IN SOUTH AFRICA AS SMUTS FALLS

Nationalist-Labor Ticket Sweeps Land.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 18.—[By the United Press.]—The move to establish an independent South African republic gained momentum today as additional results from the parliamentary elections showed that the nationalist-labor coalition probably will control a substantial majority in the new parliament.

Gen. Jan Smuts, former prime minister and champion of the policy of strict allegiance to the home government, has been defeated by the labor coalition.

Several of Gen. Smuts' followers of Dutch descent in parliament, following word of his defeat.

It now appears that the nationalist-labor coalition has obtained a parliamentary majority of twenty.

In Cape province the nationalist-labor coalition apparently has elected 30 delegates to the South African party while in the Transvaal the coalition has elected at least 32 candidates to the South African party.

Nationalist-labor leaders claim they will have at least 75 members of the new assembly and a majority in the house. The assembly has a total membership of 155 and the senate 40.

Republic Big Issue.
The campaign was made largely as a straight out battle between Gen. Smuts and Hertzog, the latter plainly indicating his desire to restore the old Dutch republics of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State (conquered and annexed by Britain in the war of 1899-1902) and establishment of a Dutch governed republic including Cape and Natal provinces.

A move already is under way to select Hertzog as the new premier.

The fact that the South African party, headed by Gen. Smuts, apparently will have a greater number of members of the new dominion parliament than any other group, has caused some satisfaction to adherents of the Smuts policy of a close union with the mother country, although the nationalists, headed by Gen. Hertzog, undoubtedly will be able to cause considerable trouble.

The nationalists favor an out and out policy of secession from the empire and independence. They are largely the old Dutch republicans who fought Great Britain in the Boer war.

The laborites are headed by Col. W. Crowwell and comprise British-Dutch and foreign elements as well as some of the native Negroes.

The nationalist party showed great gains in yesterday's election. Gen. Smuts was defeated in his own district by George Hay, laborite, who polled 1,407 votes to 1,022 for the former premier.

COOLIDGE DINES G. O. P. CHIEFS AND PLANS CAMPAIGN

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Campaign questions were informally discussed by President Coolidge with Republican leaders of congress at a dinner conference tonight at the White House.

It was the sentiment of many present that the campaign should be gotten actively under way upon after the Democratic convention is opened next week.

The guests included Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, Borah of Idaho, Watson of Indiana, Curtis of Kansas, Warren of Wyoming, and Brandegee of Connecticut, and Representatives Trencher of Kansas and Sinnott of Oregon, members of the house steering committee.

BALLOON RACE AND BENNETT CUP WON BY BELGIAN

BY JOHN MATHIESSEN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

EDINBURGH, Scotland, June 18.—Lieut. Ernest de Myster in the Belgian balloon Belgium landed on a Scotch moor near Saint Abb's head yesterday, thus winning the James Gordon Bennett cup race for which seventeen balloons from all nations contested.

He traveled about 500 miles. The balloon was not damaged, and Lieut. de Myster came to Edinburgh to report to the Belgian consulate.

Soon afterwards the balloonist received a cablegram from King Albert of Belgium saying:

"Congratulations for your great skill and courage and for the success of the Belgica."

Lieut. de Myster said he had a glorious ride, traveling as high as 6,000 meters and as low as 1,000 meters. This was his fourth success. In 1921 he won in Alabama. In 1922 he started in Geneva and flew to Bucharest, and last year he flew from Brussels to Stockholm.

Lieut. de Myster, in view of his fourth win, is given the trophy outright.

QUARRY GIVES UP BODIES OF TWO WOMEN, MAN

Du Page county authorities, who yesterday recovered the bodies of two women and a married man from a stone quarry pond near Elmhurst, were seeking last night to determine the circumstances which led to the deaths.

They were puzzled by the fact that the younger of the two women—Mrs. Ethel Barr, 39 year old divorcee who had lived at 5493 Ingleside avenue—was only partially clad. The man, George L. Townsend of 1417 East 47th street, and the other woman, Mrs. Emma Mickelborough of the Ingleside avenue address, were fully clothed.

Car Landed on Ledge.
The three bodies were taken from a Ford sedan which plunged into the quarry Monday night and landed on a ledge of rock nine feet below the surface of the water. Townsend's hands were still grasping the steering wheel.

Woods fringed the quarry, and it is often used as a picnicking spot. Sheriff John Hestermann is of the opinion that the party, which left Chicago on Monday afternoon, started to leave after spending the evening there, and inadvertently backed into the quarry while turning around.

There were rumors that one other man had been in the party, escaping death because he was out of the car directing Townsend in his efforts to find the way back to the highway in the darkness. The sheriff was unable to find trace of such a person, however. The boy who notified the police of the accident was found to be one of several youths who use the quarry for a swimming hole.

Tried to Escape.
Friends and relatives of Mrs. Barr, eager to account for her scanty attire, said that after the Ford plunged into the water, she must have torn her clothing off in her efforts to escape from the closed car. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Banskou, live in Maywood.

Mrs. Mickelborough was 40 years old and a divorcee. Her daughter, who has been attending a boarding school in Pennsylvania, is expected to arrive in Chicago today.

MASTER MINDS OF DEMOCRACY ON BALLOTFIELD

McAdoo and Brennan Are

unit the candidate for whom they vote receives more votes than there are delegates who actually favor him. There may be a large minority in each delegation against the candidate, but the vote of the delegation is cast for him as a unit because the action has been decided by a small majority.

"The two-thirds rule has persisted largely because of the persistence of the unit rule. If only a simple majority were required to nominate, with the unit rule still in force, it would be possible to name a candidate with only a minority of the delegates really in favor of him. He would not be the party choice at all.

A Majority Is Assured.

"The theory is that so long as we have the unit rule the two-thirds rule gives assurance that there will be at least a majority of the convention actually in favor of the candidate chosen.

"Perhaps it would be wise to abolish both the two-thirds and the unit rule, but I do not look for such action at this convention. If this is done it should be made to apply to the next convention. Our delegates have been elected under the present system of two-thirds rule and unit rule, and it would seem hardly fair to change the system at this stage of the proceedings.

Mr. Brennan would not say a word regarding the chances of the nomination of McAdoo or Smith or any other aspirant. He hurried into conference with Gov. Smith, Norman Mack, and others leaders arrayed against McAdoo, and spent the afternoon surveying the situation.

How Illinois Will Vote.

The Illinois delegation will be split four or five ways in the early balloting. There will be votes for McAdoo, Senator Ralston of Indiana, Gov. Silzer of New Jersey, former Gov. Cox of Ohio, and John W. Davis of West Virginia, former ambassador to Great Britain. At a later stage there probably will be some Illinois votes for Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska.

There are even other aspirants, some or all of whom may get votes from Illinois and other midwestern states as the balloting proceeds. There is, for example, Senator Glass of Virginia, who hopes to be the residuary legatee of McAdoo; Senator Underwood of Alabama, who hopes to be the residuary legatee of Smith; Gov. Jonathan Davis of Kansas, who arrived today with a considerably inflated boom; Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, a wet who would not spurn the mantle of Smith; Senator Robinson of Arkansas, minority leader of the senate; former Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels, Gov. Gardner of Missouri, and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming. Most of these are favorite sons for whom their state delegations will cast a complimentary vote in the early balloting.

There were 2,000 or more people at the Pennsylvania station to meet and whoop for McAdoo. He emerged from the car waving a battered fedora and grinning and looking ten years younger than his 60 years. On his arm was his wife, in mourning for her father, Woodrow Wilson, and with them were their children.

The crush about the car was so great that it was necessary to hand the child down out of the press. Then Mr. McAdoo was compelled to make a speech in which he gave the Republican party one barrel and reactionaries in the Democratic party, if there be any such, the other barrel.

Ye Scribe Reminisces.

Round Bob Woolley, who gave this correspondent his first assignment in the newspaper business twenty-eight years ago this month, wrung Mr. McAdoo's hand, and Mrs. McAdoo greeted J. Borden Harriman with an affectionate kiss.

Then into the hotel and finally to the session of the candidate with the reporters. Did Mr. McAdoo have something to say? He had, and in order that no mistake be made in quoting him, he had set down his thoughts in a typewritten statement which he proceeded to pass around.

"It is clear," began the McAdoo statement, "that victory for the Democratic party is certain only through the ascendancy of the preponderant progressive forces within the party."

The country, says Mr. McAdoo, is "disgusted with the rule of reaction and privilege" and the "hopeless incapacity" of the Republican administration; the people fear a continuation of the graft and corruption revealed in Washington. The Republican ticket is reactionary and likewise the Republican platform.

What Party Must Do.

This Mr. McAdoo points out, is the Democratic opportunity. If the Democratic party apes the reactionary tendencies of the Republicans it will ruin itself, but let it be intensely progressive and it will win hands down. The Democratic party, in the opinion of Mr. McAdoo, must be uncompromisingly for these things:

"International cooperation for the purpose of abolishing war and thus maintaining peace; cutting down or elimination of expensive military and naval armaments and the restoration of world-wide economic improvement; broadening the base of prosperity among our own people, so that as far as possible parity shall be restored between the cost to the farmer of the things he consumes and the price he obtains for the things he sells.

Hint as to Liquor Views.

"Child labor should be protected and equality of rights, civil, economic and social, should be accorded to women; genuine economy in government must be practiced and taxes must be proportioned to the things they pay."

greatly reduced to the lowest possible basis consistent with efficient government and justice to deserving employees in the public service.

"The sins of commission and omission committed by the Republican administration must be punished; the grafters must be driven out of the capitol. All laws must be enforced—they can be enforced with a vigorous and honest governmental Washington. To say that they cannot be is not only to confess governmental impotence but failure of Democratic institutions." That last sentence, said slightly veiled Mr. McAdoo's view of prohibition enforcement.

The candidate ended with a plea for fair play in the contest over the nomination and a warning that if any should seek to obstruct "the will of the rank and file of the party" or to satisfy personal ambitions or create schisms they will find no sympathy from the men and women who have come to New York impressed with their serious party responsibility.

PREDICT DEVER WILL BE SAVED AS DARK HORSE

Illinois Delegates Not to Name Him Formally.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

The Illinois delegation probably will dispense with the formality of placing Mayor William E. Dever in nomination as a favorite son candidate in the Democratic national convention at New York next week.

Several reasons are advanced for this. First, nominating speeches are not essential; they take up a lot of time, and the convention will be treated to a dozen or more anyway. Then, too, part of the Illinois delegation is instructed to McAdoo in the early balloting, and Dever, a dark horse, could not have a solid delegation from his home state at the start.

Some Want "Al."

Third, some of the Illinoisans who want Al Smith have been memorizing "The Sidewalks of New York" and want to go into the convention singing it with the Smith chorus. Others, if left entirely to their own devices, would like to vote for John W. Davis.

And on top of it all the Illinoisans consider that it is wise to leave the whole matter to George Brennan, and it is understood that Brennan thinks Dever will do just as well by staying out of the limelight with the rest of the dark horses.

Indiana for Ralston.

Indiana, from which commonwealth bulls that other sage of the Democracy, Tom Taggart, also is expected to dispense with speeches placing Senator Samuel M. Ralston in nomination. With Brennan now in New York the Illinois delegation is looking forward with eagerness to his words of advice at the state caucus Monday night. He had little to say before he went to Gotham.

William L. O'Connell, Illinois manager of the McAdoo forces, said before leaving for New York that this state would give the former secretary of the treasury at least a dozen votes at the start. Nine delegates are instructed for McAdoo and three or four others who were not opposed for election are counted on to give McAdoo their first votes, he said.

Women Cheer Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Anna L. Smith, Illinois' national committeewoman, was given a rousing welcome to New York yesterday by a delegation from the Illinois Women's Democratic club, official organization of Democratic women in this state. Mrs. Smith was one of the founders of the club.

Radio is bringing national political conventions right into the home parlor, and the Congress hotel yesterday announced an invitation to the public to hear the Democratic convention proceedings from the "world's largest reproducer," which will be installed in the Elizabethan room.

CLOTHING MEN FIND BUSINESS IS PICKING UP

A word of cheer was given to the clothing world yesterday when Sol Schloss, president of the Retail Clothiers and Furriers' association, issued a statement asserting that the business in all parts of the country was picking up and that the association was optimistic over the prospects of the future. The presidents and the secretaries of the association in various states were meeting in the Hotel Sherman, making plans for the national convention which is to be held in New York in September.

G. O. P. GENERALS PICK NEAR WEST TO OPEN BATTLE

Will Direct Campaign from Chicago.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

The G. O. P. has picked the territory where the fighting will be fiercest to fire its first guns of the campaign, which will be directed from the Chicago headquarters. This will be in the near west, probably Nebraska.

Everything around Republican national headquarters, where Chairman William M. Butler is whipping campaign plans into shape, indicates that the regions of agrarian unrest will be the early battleground. It is into this restive grain belt that Charles G. Dawes, vice presidential nominee, probably will be sent to make his first speeches.

Map Dawes' Campaign.

Dawes will bear the brunt of the speaking campaign, and party managers want him to start the ball rolling out among the discontented farmers. They know he will speak in language they can understand. It is too early for Butler and his aids to announce any definite plans or itineraries. These will come as soon as President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes have been officially informed of their nomination and when plans have been discussed with various state leaders in the west.

Formation of the Republican speakers' bureau began yesterday with the selection of Congressman Everett Sanders of Terre Haute, Ind., as director.

Headquarters hummed with important conferences yesterday following the arrival of William Y. Hedges of Colorado, treasurer of the new national committee. He was closeted for a time with former Treasurer Fred W. Upham, Illinois committeeman, who gave his successor some pointers on handling of the job. Roy O. West of Illinois, secretary of the committee, will be in charge of headquarters during the chairman's absence, Mr. Butler announced yesterday.

Conferences at Headquarters. Mr. Butler plans to leave tomorrow for Washington for his first conference with President Coolidge since the Cleveland convention. Gen. Dawes also expects to visit the President next week. The personnel and records of the Washington headquarters will be moved to Chicago, as the national campaign will be directed from here.

The advantages of radio will be utilized fully in the campaign, Mr. Butler said. Not only will all speeches by President Coolidge be broadcast but those of Gen. Dawes and other speakers as well, in so far as is possible. Republican state headquarters will be opened in Chicago soon by Chairman Frank L. Smith.

DELAY ACTION BY COUNCIL ON HEALTH BOARD

Consideration of two ordinances—one to create a local health board and another to reorganize the city's bureau of streets—was deferred by the city council yesterday until its last meeting before summer adjournment on July 15.

Practitioners of half a dozen schools of medicine packed the council's galleries to shout for passage of the health board measure were thrown into confusion when Ald. Henry Dick (20th) offered an amendment which caused the ordinance to be sent back to the health committee for further study. Ald. Dick's amendment would strike from the ordinance a "rider" inserted by the health committee to pacify the delegations of neurologists, naturopaths, chiropractors, and other practitioners, including faith healers and cultists, who demanded representation of their theories in the personnel of the proposed board of health.

DAWES MINDS STRICTLY HIS OWN BUSINESS

Abjures Politics and Runs
His Bank.

Charles G. Dawes, having on Tuesday night delivered himself of a good sized load of forensic fireworks relating directly to his candidacy for Vice President, reverted yesterday to the rôle of private citizen. He became a banker and a suburbanite and put politics from his mind.

The ticker in the general's private office was rattling merrily throughout the business day. September oats and July wheat, stocks that demanded attention, notes that needed collecting, and the general run of business held the banker's attention.

Business Is First.

Reporters who called at the Central Trust bank were given brief but warm receptions. "There is nothing new today," the general said. "There will be nothing of moment until our worthy opponents have finished their convention work in New York."

It is assumed that the general will make a journey to Washington shortly after the New York convention has closed and the names of the Democratic candidates are broadcast. There will be a long visit with President Coolidge, a thorough discussion of the campaign, following which it is expected that Gen. Dawes will take the stump.

Butler Praises Speech.

At the close of the business day the general motored to his home in Evanston, the scene of Tuesday night's celebration. He spent the evening with his family.

William M. Butler, director of the Republican campaign, announced yesterday that he was quite favorably impressed with Gen. Dawes' oratorical powers.

"He made a mighty good speech," said Mr. Butler. "He had something to say and he said it in a manner that sent it home to every listener."

'WACKER DRIVE' TO BE NAME OF NEW S. WATER ST.

South Water street widened and double decked from the Michigan boulevard link bridge to Market street and merged with Market street, widely from Lake street to Madison street, into one continuous thoroughfare, was chosen a fitting tribute to Charles H. Wacker, president of the Chicago Plan commission, by the city council yesterday.

Ordinances replacing the present street names with "Wacker drive" when the improvements now under way are completed were adopted by the council with but one dissenting vote recorded—that of Ald. Wiley Mills (37th). Catalina, hissed, and boomed from his colleagues and the crowded galleries greeted Mills' protest against the use of a former brewer's name to mark the projected boulevard.

"It is proposed that the name of a man who amassed a fortune making beer shall replace the name of water," shouted Mills. "It shouldn't be done and I'll never vote for it. It will never be said that a son of my father voted to give a brewer's name to a city street," he finished.

PEACOCK Watch Repair Service

EIGHTY-SEVEN years ago, Elijah Peacock, the founder of this business, foresaw the requirements and responsibilities of a Watch Repairer, a complete service, and he prepared for it. The result is that with the development of the watch in America, PEACOCK'S has become nationally known as the center of accurate time-keeping—not alone for the sale of good watches, but for the proper care and repairing of them as well.

When you bring your watch here for attention it is received by a man who knows watches, and after examination will tell you its needs and the cost of the adjustments. When the work is finished, it is again inspected by a master watchmaker, who fully appreciates the PEACOCK old fashioned idea of responsibility to the public.

SOLVE 2 MILLION MAIL ROBBERY; 4 HELD; HUNT 4

Bandit's Shooting Partner
Cleared Mystery.

Schoemaker said. "Grant and Willis had looked over the ground. It was decided they were to ride the train. At 7 p. m. two Cadillacs were to come along Michigan boulevard, one driven by Wilcox and one driven by Ernest Fontana and they were to pick up the others in front of the Art Institute."

Wilcox and Joe rode in one Cadillac, the two Fontanas and Willis in the other. Grant and Willis Newton, dressed in suits of overalls and litters about the Union depot and before the train left they went under the viaduct and put on the overalls.

Chase "Bums" Off the Train. "Each carried two revolvers and they rode between the tender and the first mail car. They chased off two 'bums' who were there when they got on. They said: 'We are the law, get off.' Two other bums tried to get on, but were chased away."

"When they got near Rondout they crawled over the coal tender and Grant covered the engineer and Newton covered the fireman. They ordered the train stopped at the first wide cement road. The crew said: 'All right, we'll go as you say. Don't hurt us.'"

"They pulled the train too far and had to back up. The men didn't wear any masks, but they had the gas masks with them."

"The railroad employes told them which car had registered mail. They threw the gas masks into one of the other cars."

Hurt Gas Bombs in Cars. "The bombs were formaldehyde in glass bottles, but the robbers didn't throw any into the car containing registered mail. They had the masks along figuring the government might have some gas in the car to be released if the mail clerks were forced out but the government didn't."

"They told Sandy McRay, the brakeman, to go back and flag any train that might be coming along behind."

"They threw out only bags with brass locks and it took them ten or fifteen minutes to do it."

Willie's orders were to be on the wrong side of the train (left side) at the hard road guarding against any intrusion from any passing automobile. Instead Willie wandered down the track toward the mail car. Grant saw him coming up gun in hand and didn't recognize him, so he fired four or five times at him and hit him every time.

Learns He Shot Brother. "Finally they heard moaning. L. H. Phillips, a train employe called Willis Newton's attention and Willis sent Wilcox to see who it was. When he found it was his brother they pulled him under the car to the right side and took the mail out of one automobile and Wilcox put Willie in the auto."

"Some one gave orders for the train to start."

"Joe and Willis Newton and Ernest Fontana came to Chicago in one car while the other car was driven to Joliet where they had a place fixed to rifle the mail bags."

"Ernest Fontana drove to a garage on the west side before daylight the morning of Friday the 12th. No. 1 won't say whose garage. They stayed there till that night."

"Ernest Fontana met Willis Newton at 1 o'clock that afternoon and told him he had located a place to take Willie that night, 53 North Washington avenue. 'Don't go there until tomorrow,' Ernest warned Willis."

McComb's Flat as Refuge. "Walter McComb, his wife, Catherine McComb, and their 2 year old child lived there. Jim Murray had a key to the flat. McComb was a friend of Murray's for fifteen or twenty years. He was a hi-jacker and bootlegger in the employ of Murray for the last three or four years. The Fontanas were also employed by Murray."

Murray picked the spot and Willie was taken to the flat that night."

"Meanwhile I had arrested every body at 1045 Roosevelt road, Max Eisen's place. We got Dean O'Bannon, Weiss, Bernstein, Louis Alter—do you want all the names—well, anyway, they tried to get a writ of habeas corpus. I got in some of the train crew, Swaine and McRay, it was—no, some of the mail clerks, but they didn't identify anybody."

Frees O'Bannon et al. "That night I was at the detective bureau with Deputy Zimmer and during the conversation with O'Bannon and his mob I got a hunch—call it a tip if you like. No, I'll not say who gave it to me, but they were all released by 11 o'clock."

Later Chief Collins explained that the O'Bannon "gang" had accused "Shoes" of favoritism, favoring them with his raids instead of going out and "getting the right guys."

"Why don't you go and get that mob at 53 North Washington avenue?" one of them asked Schoemaker. That, it would seem, was back of the hunch.

"Deputy Zimmer and myself," Schoemaker continued his story, "went to that place about midnight, and we took Sgt. Fred Tapscott and Patrolmen Wacholz, Griffith, and Foley with us. We stopped on Warren avenue and looked by, sitting up the place. It looked dead then, about 12 o'clock."

Think They See Light. "We noticed a light on the second floor, we could see it over the shade, but we were not positive looking up from below. We were undecided whether to cover the house or to make it at once. Finally we decided to make it then. I sent Tapscott, Foley and Wacholz to the rear door."

"Deputy Zimmer, Griffith and myself went to the front and knocked. 'Who's there?' some one said. I said, 'Open up.' They said again, 'Who's there?' and I said again, 'Open up.' I heard them walking away and I put my foot through the door."

"Walter McComb and his wife were there. Willis was in bed, shot. On a chair beside the bed his brother, Joe, was sitting. I searched Joe and found some 45 bullets in his pocket. A 45 South & Western fully loaded was on the dresser."

Finds Money on Joe. "Joe had $1,650 in his pocket—one $1,000 bill, a $500 bill, a $100 bill and I forget what else. The money was all bloody."

"Joe's clothes were all bloody. 'I sent the two men out immediately in our automobiles. Then I sent the woman away. I had a dying man on my hands and I didn't know what to do with him, but finally I called the patrol wagon. That meant a tipoff, it was our first mistake. When they took him to the county hospital the newspapers were notified and they wanted to know all about it."

Blood on Murray, Too. "I left four men to guard the flat and I went to the hospital at 2:30 a. m. Murray came into the flat at 2:15 a. m. He had a key and let himself in, and that was just what my men were waiting for. They grabbed him. He had blood all over his clothes."

"He tried to bribe the officers. He had $250 on him and he said he'd give it to them on the spot and go and get $1,000 more."

"They held him. 'Then he said his wife would be in at 4 o'clock and she could get it from a vault that opened at 6 o'clock. I said I'd let him know; then I went to

That was another bull. The newspapers found out about that. "The instructions to the officers were not to answer the telephone or talk to anyone, but to grab whoever came there. At 7:30 the phone rang for a long time, then stopped. At 7:45 a. m. there was a rap on the door and when it was opened Willis Newton was grabbed."

"They searched him. He said he was a bootlegger and had just dropped in to see about some stuff. Tapscott said: 'Don't kid us, we know all about it.'"

Offers Cops $20,000. "Live and let live" is my motto," said Willis. "I've a nice inducement for you fellows to give me the air. Tapscott asked where it was and he said: 'I've got it.' I was on the job all right. This will make a nice clean-up for you fellows. I'll give you $20,000."

Tapscott reached me and I came over. He said he was James Watson of Texas and we could take his $20,000 and we'd never see or hear of him again. I said, "$20,000 ain't enough. There's millions in the job. $20,000 won't go far with these fellows when I split it."

"He said he could get $20,000 more making $40,000. I wanted to know where and he said from Jim Murray. I said I didn't like Murray and wouldn't trust him. I didn't want Murray to have anything on me, I told him."

More Cash in Vault. "Then he said his wife would be in at 4 o'clock and she could get it from a vault that opened at 6 o'clock. I said I'd let him know; then I went to

Chief Collins and he said to go through with it. "If Willis had missed one street car he'd never have been arrested. He hardly had stepped into the house when he heard the boys in the street crying 'extra papers, all about the capture of the mail robbers.'"

The captain then told of taking Willis to the Northwestern depot, of meeting the train from which the woman alighted. The captain continued:

"We all stood about ten feet from Willis and had him surrounded on all sides when he met the woman. She is Louise Draffe of New London, Wis. He kissed her and told her a friend was in trouble and had to have $20,000 for the lawyers. He said we were lawyers. He told her to get in a cab and go out to the bank and get the money. I sent Griffith to follow her in another cab."

"Willis had told her to meet him at 60th street and Cottage Grove avenue at 6 p. m. We had him there and she was late, so we rode around for a while. When we saw her pass us in a cab we went back there."

$20,000 in Package. "She came over and handed the package to Willis. He handed it to Patrolman Wacholz, and I took it and counted it. There were sixteen $1,000 bills, five $500 bills, and fifteen $100 bills."

I said to Willis, 'I got the $20,000 all right.' He said, 'Yes, I kept my word.' I said, 'We're not through yet, we're going for a little ride.' He said, 'Where?' and I said, 'To see the chief.' I told him that only a policeman, I couldn't let him go."

"They were to split the money in East St. Louis Monday night, the 16th, at 10 p. m., and if anything interfered, they would meet the next night. We were watching and we know the 'meet' did not come off."

How Murray Was Involved. "Murray's garage is between Congress and Harrison streets and between Aberdeen and Morgan streets. We found a bloody cushion near Murray's garage that Saturday morning, and we'd have landed Murray, anyway."

HARDEST OF EGGS CREDITED WITH MAIL ROBBERY

"Wayne" and Greenberg of 20 Minute Variety.

While William Newton was describing himself yesterday as a simple cowboy whom five mere bullets were powerless to kill, denying that he was shot during the $2,000,000 holdup of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train last Thursday night, light was cast on Max Greenberg of St. Louis, credited with framing the robbery.

At the Bridgwell hospital the wounded man—wounded in the head and with one arm shattered—was insisting he is J. H. Wayne, a "cowboy from New Mexico" and an ex-machine gunner from the 32d Wisconsin-Michigan National Guard division, in the world war. Before this his greatest excitement came, he said, from cattle round-ups near Roswell, N. M., and chasing steers in Oklahoma.

Shoemaker Tells Story.
About the same time, Capt. Schoemaker of the Chicago police was telling the story of the robbery, insisting that it was unwillingness of Newton's two brothers to leave him behind, wounded, or to kill him, that led to the capture of four of the train robbers and the sending out of orders to seize four other men.

While the wounded man was talking and while Capt. Schoemaker also was talking, the telegraph wires from St. Louis carried a lurid account of the career of Max Greenberg.
In that city Greenberg is credited with having been a henchman of the late Constable William T. Egan, saloonkeeper, Democratic politician, and later bootlegger.

Owed Freedom to Egan.
Greenberg came out of a federal prison, the St. Louis accounts run, Sept. 12, 1920, on a pardon which Woodrow Wilson, then President, had been influenced to grant. The influence is said to have been set in motion by Egan, with whom Greenberg was associated for almost a year thereafter in illicit liquor sales.
Falling out, the two men met on the street one night in March, 1921, and Attorney A. Boone, who happened to enter "no man's land" at the wrong moment, was killed.
This was followed by a visit of Greenberg's gang to Egan's place. Egan was hit in the right arm, then another shot gave Egan a mortal wound. There have been several shootings between the rival gangs since that time. One killing includes that of two safeblowers and the wife of one of them. The men slain were said to have been imported from Chicago by Greenberg to get an Egan protégé.

"Wayne" Had No Hunch.
Before this information was completed by wire, "Wayne" was asked, in his first newspaper interview: "Did you have a hunch of failure the other night when you went out on this Roundout job?"
So interested was he that he brightened and said, "No, never a hunch. I didn't have a hunch anything could go wrong."

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1.

GREER SHIELDS MABEL AND FILM MEN GET BLAME

Los Angeles, Cal., June 18.—[Special.]—Any spiky "inside story" of the shooting of Courtland Dines by Mabel Normand's ex-chef, Horace Greer, remained untold in the court of Superior Justice Charles Crall today when defense attorney, following Greer's orders, rested the case without presenting a defense, following the testimony of last prosecution witness, Mrs. Edith Burns.

Clarence B. Conlin, one of Greer's attorneys, charged that police had failed to gain the full story of the shooting at the time and later, at the preliminary hearings, in order to "protect the movie industry," and had withheld portions of the evidence, principally what was going on in Dines' apartment prior to Greer's entrance on the scene.

Parts of Greer's original story to the police were omitted from the typewritten reports given the district attorney's office and the omissions were made in behalf of the actresses, Attorney Hahn charged.
It was when Hahn asserted: "Greer will get on the stand and will disclose everything," that the ex-chef shifted his wad of gum, stuck out his chin, plucked his attorney's arm and said:

"I'll go to the penitentiary before I'll ever say a word against Miss Normand. She treated me better than any one else in the world."
Chicago Bar Pays Honor

TWO WOMEN ARE INJURED BY AUTO; CATCH DRIVER

Two women were severely injured when they were struck at Springfield avenue and 28th street, by an automobile driven by Patrick Shields, 6713 South Michigan avenue, who attempted to escape after the accident.

A motorist followed him and held him until police arrived. He was held on charges of driving while intoxicated and with assault.

The two women, who are sisters-in-law, are Mrs. Adeline Malek and Miss Blanche Malek, both living at 2725 South Harding avenue.

The death yesterday of Tobey Howell, 19, colored, 4337 Prairie avenue, victim of an automobile driven by John Ryan, 7651 Cragier avenue, raised the county's motor death toll since Jan. 1 to a total of 276. Ryan was held. Receiving Clerk James Lavelle and Orderly Henry Schaack of the County hospital are recovering from injuries suffered in the automobile accident in which William M. Christian was killed last Monday. Anton Sadomas, who was also injured, is also recovering.

Mrs. S. A. Manning, 73 years old, was taken to Evanston hospital after two automobiles collided at McDaniell and Lincoln avenues, Evanston. Mrs. Manning, whose home is in Edmond, Okla., was riding with the family of John Dole, 1423 Hinman avenue, Evanston.

Evanston Man Admits $200 Is High for Peeping

Police Magistrate Max Witkower yesterday fined Frank Heck of 2213 Morse avenue, Evanston, $200 for peeping into a Ridge avenue residence. Then—"Was it worth it?" the judge asked, and Heck admitted it wasn't.

BISKETS

In a cook book called "The Queen's Closets Opened", published in London in 1713, there are recipes for "several sorts of biskets".

One of which is surprisingly like that used at CHILDS in making butter cakes.

And thus we know that queens themselves had no more delicious food than that served at CHILDS.

Butter cakes and coffee—twin delights too memory which will linger please.

SCOTT TO LEARN SATURDAY IF HIS FATE BE DEATH

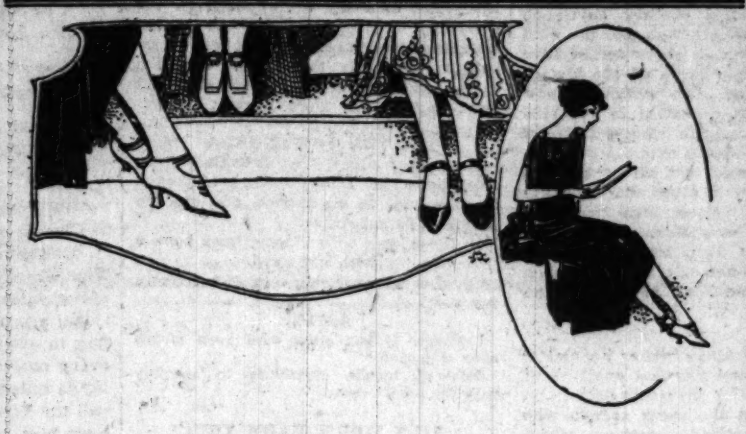

Russell Scott, confessed accomplice to the robbery and murder of Joseph Maurer, 19 year old loop drug clerk, returned to his cell in "murderers' row" in the county jail last night still in the shadow of the gallows.

He was called before Judge William J. Lindsay in Criminal court for final disposition of his plea of guilty to the killing entered last Saturday. His counsel, Walter Stanton, launched forth in an impassioned plea that he be allowed to withdraw the guilty plea in view of the court's indication at the last hearing that Scott should go to the gallows.

He read a number of citations from Illinois Supreme court reports and then argued that his client be allowed to plead not guilty "in the cause of common justice." Assistant State's Attorney William W. Smith protested against the judge submitting to the motion by stating he felt certain "justice would be better served if Scott were hanged."

"I will consider the new evidence and at 11 o'clock Saturday morning will make the final ruling," the judge said and concluded the hearing.

U. S. TAKES OVER BRITISH EMBASSY IN MEXICO CITY

London Breaks All Relations with Obregon.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, June 18.—Great Britain broke off relations with Mexico today and entrusted the protection of its interests there to the United States and the United States took over the British embassy in Mexico City.

This decision follows an impetuous note received yesterday in reply to Prime Minister MacDonald's warning that unless the persecution of the British agent, H. C. Cummins, in Mexico City stopped, the British mission would be abandoned, and all relations terminated.

It is now announced that Sir T. R. Baile, who had been preparing to sail, will not go to Mexico. British recognition of the Mexican government is indefinitely postponed.

Too Much for England.
This decision was taken at a cabinet meeting this morning at which it was made clear the present Mexican attitude is impossible for any self-respecting nation to put up with.

Mr. Cummins has been ordered to return home immediately, and it is hoped that the enlightened public opinion of the world will induce the Mexican government to see no outbreak against the English residents who will be under the protection of the United States.

The British government has just learned that Señor Pedro Bas, one of the Mexican Socialist leaders who has been studying in Moscow for three months, is on his way back to Mexico well supplied with funds for the establishment of the communist movement there.

Cummins Ready to Go.
Mexico City, June 18.—The British premier having informed the Mexican consul general in London that relations would be broken should Mexico expel Herbert C. Cummins, charge of archives, before the arrival of a British diplomatic mission, an official statement says the consul general was instructed to reply that it was impossible to countenance Mr. Cummins' attitude any longer and that he must go.

It is reported that Mr. Cummins is ready to leave Mexico immediately upon receipt of instructions from his government.

Mr. Cummins has been ordered to return home immediately, and it is hoped that the enlightened public opinion of the world will induce the Mexican government to see no outbreak against the English residents who will be under the protection of the United States.

The British government has just learned that Señor Pedro Bas, one of the Mexican Socialist leaders who has been studying in Moscow for three months, is on his way back to Mexico well supplied with funds for the establishment of the communist movement there.

GET CONFESSION IN ITALIAN PLOT; CRISIS AVERTED

BY JOHN STORER.

(Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, June 18.—Feeling in Italy regarding the kidnapping of Sig. Matteotti, millionaire Socialist deputy, is beginning to wane. However, it is admitted that the affair has dealt a serious blow to Fascism.

The magistrates are engaged in examining witnesses, and Sig. Dumini, one of the alleged conspirators, is reported to have confessed. Should the magistrates order court proceedings to be initiated against important personages a second crisis for Premier Mussolini's government may arise.

The appointment of Sig. Fedorini as minister of the interior and the arrest of Sig. Filippelli, editor of the Corriere Italiano, together with a rejection of public feeling in favor of Sig. Mussolini, who saw years of his work periled by the acts of subordinates, caused a break in the tension. Sig. Fedorini is busy clearing out the ministry of the interior of undesirable hangers on and supernumeraries, sending many back to their homes in the provinces.

It is now alleged that the real murderer of Sig. Matteotti, if he has been murdered, which seems certain, are Dumini, Viola, Volpi, Vilani, and Governor. The charges against them are to be altered to one of murder, through, according to Italian law, if the body is not found they cannot be convicted of the full charge. The examination of the accused is taking place in secret, but it appears that Sig. Filippelli secured an automobile for Dumini and his friends in the belief that the Socialist leader would only be kidnapped, not murdered.

Sig. Filippelli has a special cell in the Regina Coeli prison, for which he pays. He has food sent in from a restaurant.

Sig. Finzi, who was forced to resign from a cabinet undersecretaryship, is writing letters to the newspapers, seeking to defend himself against the charges. His name has been mentioned in connection with the Sindona oil deal and other affairs on which suspicion has been cast.

The disappearance of Cesare Rossi, former chief of the press bureau of the department of the interior, is exciting comment. He seems to be favored by an invisible cloak, though he writes letters to the press. He has been reported as being in Florence, but it is believed that he is really over the frontier.

Waterville, Me., June 18.—Mary Clark King of New York, daughter of former United States Senator William A. Clark of Montana, and known as the "copper king," was granted a divorce today from her husband, Charles P. King, of Augusta. Cruel and abusive treatment and desertion were charged.

SILVER HAired VETERANS, 600 STRONG, PARADE

Champaign, Ill., June 19.—In a blistering sun 600 silver haired veterans answered roll call today as the time honored ranks waved away in their annual parade, the feature of the second day of the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Led by a lively march, the warriors moved off stiffly at attention, despite the havoc years have played with their marching equipment. In the parade were also the sons of veterans, Spanish-American war veterans, veterans of foreign wars, and the American Legion.

Tonight the old soldiers were at a birthday party given by the daughters of veterans. Gen. G. M. Salsgaber, commander in chief of the G. A. R., was guest of honor. A father and son's banquet and election of officers will take place tomorrow.

WHETHER it's tennis or cigarettes or anything else, popularity is no stroke of luck, no kindly twist of fate. No champion ever held his laurels except by making good. No cigarette ever held popular favor except by deserving it.

The popularity of Chesterfields is an outstanding example. For months now Chesterfields have been drawing over 1000 smokers a day away from other cigarettes.

Surely this is convincing proof of their quality and good taste.

FRANCE, BRITAIN, BELGIUM CONFER ON DAWES PLAN

Herriot Promised the Full Help of Germany.

BY HENRY WALKER.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright 1926 by The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, June 18.—Paul Herriot, Belgian foreign minister, conferred today with Premier Herriot, who leaves Saturday for England to spend the week-end with Prime Minister MacDonald. M. Herriot has decided to return via Brussels on Tuesday to discuss the results of his talk in England with Premier Herriot.

"There is no cloud between Belgium and France; we are entirely in accord for the immediate integral application of the experts' plan, with such precautions as the situation requires," M. Herriot said. He added that he had informed M. Herriot of the details of the Belgian conversations with Premier MacDonald and Prime Minister MacDonald last month.

Assured of German Cooperation.
M. Herriot received Herr Briet, chief, German social democrat deputy tonight. They discussed the situation in Germany and the possibility of early adoption by the Berlin government of the Dawes experts' report.

Herr Briet's assurance of the French premier that the majority of the Reichstag favored carrying out the Dawes plan and said France could count on Germany's sincerity and loyalty in executing it.

Critics of the cabinet forces trouble if M. Herriot persists in jamming through measures granting amnesty to war prisoners and suppressing the vatican embassy. The Socialists are dissatisfied with the amnesty bill because it includes all war prisoners, even traitors, and they will not vote for it. If the remnants of the national bloc vote against it, the Socialists will find themselves in the minority. It is also believed certain that the left bloc will not vote solidly for splitting with the vatican, thereby smashing the government majority.

Reichstag Clears Bills in July.
BERLIN, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Although the Reichstag is to meet on June 24, the government does not expect to be able to introduce the necessary bills in connection with carrying out the Dawes report plan before the middle of July. This is due partially to the necessity for constituent conferences with the allied representatives to insure the acceptability of the measure to the allies, and also to the complexity and magnitude of the legislation required.

The situation is further complicated by the government's desire to obviate the necessity for a two-thirds vote in the Reichstag, and the third the assumption of guarantees. In both the bank and railway questions the chief problem is the legal status of the federal railways, and the third the assumption of guarantees. Plans to Reform Taxes.
Hand in hand with the above proposed legislation is the matter of reforming the income and turn over taxes so that prices may be reduced. The government hints that the price reduction in the postal and railway rates.

Texas Governor Impached and His Wife Seeks Job
Temple, Tex., June 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Fighting for vindication of her husband at the hands of Texas voters, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, wife of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, has launched her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mr. Ferguson, impached by the state senate in 1917 at the beginning of his second term as governor, has been frustrated in an attempt to seek office again, and his wife has entered the political arena as the family standard bearer.

Witches Wail as Fairy Song Thrills Elmer

He's Dazed, the Air's So Full of Music.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Am absolutely lost in a bewitching maze. Will start straight south and stop when I'm stopped.

At about 8:30, stumbled upon a Mr. Wolf (a name one) at WQJ, telling women having a tendency to exceed the legal boundary line how to dress to appear within the perfect 36 limit.

This is the first of a series of (will insert the word "interesting") talks on suitable apparel for stout women.

Not having a tendency to take on excess avoidpulp baggage, parrot of my daily Drake concert ensemble and Blackstone string quartet music diet, then enjoyed the third of a series of seven daily lunches, the most of them being at Tux Trampus's cozy restaurant, the attractive Irish cashier of which has recently bloomed out in a marcel bob.

Returning in good humor at 8:10, found a good fairy building wonderful air castles at WMAQ. This turned out to be Hazel Easton of Northwestern university giving a reading of Irish poems.

This was followed by one of the

But a quick flash to KTW—What's up? . . . Band music. . . . a program from New York? . . . .

At 9:15 at WMAQ, a real musical treat selections from the song cycle, "In a Persian Garden," sung by a mixed quartet of singers from Freeport, Ill. This is an old-timer, of course, to the concert world, but new to the most part, to the radio world.

Can't say too much for the work of the singers. Dr. J. Sheldon Clark, basso—a magnificent voice. Mrs. Iva Springler Wheat's dramatic work the "I Sent My Soul Through the Valley" reached a tremendous climax—the limit of receiving capacity in volume and with no sacrifice of quality. Congratulations for Freeport. Come again, please, and thanks!

As though that were not enough for a night, Chet Shunatons and a band of Indians showed up at KTW with "war whoop and bells on," according to the announcer.

WAR CONTRACTS OF DU PONT GET HIGHER AT INQUIRY

Two 'Reputable' Men Tell
Two Different Tales.

BY DONALD EWING.

Washington, D. C., June 18.—[Special.]—The $139,000,000 war contracts of the Old Hickory powder plant, a Nashville [Tenn.] T. Coleman Du Pont branch, came before the Daugherty investigating committee again today and the honesty or dishonesty of the contractors was now a matter of which side you want to believe.

Some months ago, George Storck, department of justice accountant, told the committee how he went to Nashville to discover millions in frauds in the contracts, came back and made a complete written confidential report. The report, he said, was turned over to Du Pont attorneys by department of justice officials and by Col. Henry W. Anderson, head of the war frauds board, in a secret conference. Today Anderson stepped to the stand.

Anderson denies it all. "It is simply a darn lie—or a terrible mistake," he said. "I never attended any conference with the Du Pont attorneys. I never had any confidential memorandum on the case and don't know of anything wrong about the department of justice's handling of it."

John W. H. Crim, assistant attorney general, to whose attention the alleged conference had been called by department of investigation agents, was called. He recalled several reports to him about the memorandum being given to Du Pont attorneys, how he had shut down on certain officials when he heard of it, and so on. But he had no first hand knowledge of the conference.

Has a Reputable Name. Much of Storck's story, at the time it was given, was confirmed by other witnesses. He is known as a reputable man. Anderson stands near the top of the legal profession. Either would be believed by any one, so far as appearance goes. As Senator Jones (Rep. Wash.) expressed it after the meeting today: "I can't believe Anderson would falsify, but I can't believe Storck was telling any untruths."

Anderson defended the government departments in their settling of war contracts. "The government lost hundreds of millions," he said, "but they weren't lost through crookedness. It was through inefficiency and carelessness in various departments. I know of one contractor given $3,750,000 when he hadn't built his plant at the time of the settlement."

"And he opposed a bonus for overseas men?" asked Wheeler (Dem., Minn.). "He certainly did—vigorously. The war contractors were the ones who got the bonuses."

GIRL TRAILS, NARS ASSAILANT. Fred G. Sotters of the Chicago Hotel, 220 Wilson avenue, sought for several months a charge of robbing and attempting to attack Miss Corinne Over of 4314 Sheridan road, was arrested yesterday for the young woman discovered where he was living.

—Eather Barker Odeon, June 17, beloved wife of John Odeon, died at her home, 1001 N. Dearborn, June 18, 1924. Burial at Graceland cemetery, Chicago, June 20, 1924.

COUNCIL ASKS WIDER ROADS NEAR CHICAGO

State Is Petitioned to Give City Its Rights.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city council unanimously petitioned Gov. Small and the state highway department yesterday to build more and wider roads adjacent to Chicago.

This unusual action was taken by the adoption of a resolution offered by Ald. Thomas F. Byrne, who asserted that the Chicago automobilist should be given more equitable treatment. He said that these owners have invested more than $219,000,000 in autos and should be given suitable and adequate road space on which to operate their cars.

"These Chicago citizens, numbering 253,600 last year and 375,578 to date this year," reads the Byrne petition, "largely use for five and a half days each week the pavements of Chicago which they have helped to pay for in original cost and repairs. They are entitled to the privilege of driving out in the country Saturday afternoons and Sundays."

But they are hindered, delayed, and interfered with in the enjoyment of that right and privilege to such an extent that the safe and comfortable exercise of that right and privilege is denied to thousands weekly; because the highways to and from Chicago are too few and too narrow, consequently resulting in many accidents, property loss, injury to persons and deaths."

Then Ald. Byrne points out that the automobilists of Chicago are not now getting their money's worth in fees paid the state. The petition goes on: "These Chicago auto owners paid much more than 27 per cent of the $2,455,794 received by the state in auto fees in 1923; but not $1 of that was spent within the limits of Chicago, nor are such fees expendable in this city under present laws."

To that the alderman offered no objection whatever, but he vigorously urged that the fees be spent in the vicinity of Chicago, so that those who pay may receive larger benefits therefrom.

The petition to the governor and state highway department asks them "to consider immediately and with unusual care the justice and equity of spending license fees received from Chicago automobile owners upon the roads and highways which these Chicago automobile owners can reasonably expect to ride upon during their weekend and holiday outings."

The council instructed the city clerk to send a certified copy of the resolution and petition to his excellency, the governor, and to the director of the department of public works and buildings.

Ald. Byrne expressed the opinion that Chicago pays one-third of the state license fees, although without official data to show it conclusively. Chicago had more than 27 per cent of the registered motor vehicles in the state last year, but the percentage of heavy trucks and high power passenger cars is much larger in Chicago than downstate.

Asks $20,000 of Stillman to Fight Divorce Appeal

White Plains, N. Y., July 18.—Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, through her counsel, today asked Supreme Court Justice Morschhammer to allow her $20,000 for counsel fees to enable her to fight the appeal of her husband, James A. Stillman, from the recent decision denying the banker a decree of divorce.

Decision was reserved. Counsel for Stillman asserted that Mrs. Stillman was now receiving $7,500 monthly from her husband.

PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD IS RE-ELECTED

Three distinct steps were taken by the board of education yesterday that united it in carrying out the educational program which it has sponsored.

First, they expressed confidence in the leadership of Charles M. Modersohn and reflected him president of the board.

Then they sat on the Chicago Teachers' federation by unanimously voting for the examination program for teachers for the junior high schools against which the federation protested in a communication addressed to the board.

Protests are sidetracked.

Then they sidetracked to a special committee letters of protest against the junior high schools from the Illinois Federation of Labor and the city council. Members of the committee have previously expressed themselves as opposed to deviation from the proposed junior high program and are expected to so report.

A resolution stating that the junior high school was to be an experiment instead of a definite policy which was to have been offered by Trustee James Mullenbach was withdrawn. Mr. Mullenbach declared that the special committee named by President Modersohn to report on the protests against the system would serve the purpose.

Trustees Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, William K. Fellows, and Supt. William McAndrew were named members of the special committee.

The fight which was expected to develop over efforts of Supt. McAndrew for reorganization of the teachers' council by amendment to the present rules was shifted to the school administration and rules committee.

For Cooperative Council.

Supt. McAndrew is recommending that the council be organized by the superintendent subject to the approval of the board. No outline of a proposed reorganization is set forth, but it is known that he favors a cooperative council and is opposed to the council meeting during school hours.

An additional $20,000 was appropriated for the Cook county school for boys by the board. The expense of the institution is maintained jointly by the school and the county board. This year the board cut its appropriation $20,000 and the institution was on the verge of closing its doors on account of lack of funds. The expense per pupil in the school is $470.

SMALL'S BROTHER TO PRESIDE AT LEN'S HEARING

John Small, master in chancery of the Kankakee county circuit court, will preside over hearings at which depositions in the state treasury interest suit against his brother, Gov. Len Small, will be taken. It was announced yesterday. The hearings will begin June 30, following earlier sessions at Waukegan, where the governor was tried on criminal charges.

Attorneys representing the governor were ordered by Judge Burton of Sangamon county circuit court to resume the taking of depositions June 27 in order to complete the evidence by Aug. 8, the stipulated time limit.

DEPENDENT MAN ENDS LIFE. Joseph Farwell, 65 years old, 1938 Cornelia street, was found dead yesterday with a gas hose in his mouth and a tub over his head to keep the deadly fumes concentrated. He had been dependent over sickness.

GIRL, 14, ADMITS STARTING BLAZE THAT KILLED 24

Los Angeles, Cal., June 18.—Josephine Bertholme, 14, now an inmate of the juvenile hall here, today confessed to having set fire to the Hope Development school at Playa del Rey near here, May 31, when twenty-four lives were lost, according to an announcement today by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

The child, a former inmate of the home, told Keyes, according to his statement, that she set the home afire without any assistance, or without suggestion from any second party. Keyes declared that the girl gave no reason for her act, and added that she had volunteered her information.

DRY AGENT HELD FOR SHAKEDOWN OF DRUG STORE

Prohibition Agent Floyd B. Jones was arrested yesterday by agents of the special intelligence unit on charges of "shaking down" the Bellevue pharmacy management in connection with the purchase of two pints of whisky which he made several months ago.

It is alleged that Jones, who at the time of the "buy" had been an agent but a few days, made a demand on the concern for $100. He was paid $46 and was told to return later. It is said, in making the collection he used the name of another agent, it is alleged. When the other agent learned of the supposed transaction he demanded that Jones clear him.

According to Chief A. F. Madden of the intelligence unit, Jones borrowed from the second agent and repaid the $46 when he suspected the unit was investigating.

Chief Madden said that Jones admitted the refund. He was locked up and later released on bond. He will appear this morning in Municipal Judge Shuttman's court with the "Jolly Nine," agents arrested a week ago in a raid on a disorderly flat.

Right about face! come up where you belong-

Served with cream or rich milk, Grape-Nuts gives you in most delicious form the essential of a well-balanced ration.

Overwork? No such thing. Ten chances to one it's a plain case of mismanagement. Ten chances to one you are eating food that only a day laborer could digest. And are consequently suffering from malnutrition—absorbing from improper foods poisons and acids that cause so many ills.

But right about face! You can change all this. Give your body nourishment it demands in a form it can readily digest, and it will repay you tenfold in health and strength.

IN Grape-Nuts is nourishment you daily need. In the form your body eagerly digests and turns into strength and vitality.

Nourishment you daily need
At least one-third of your nourishment should come from the carbohydrates (a great part of which comes from the grains). For the carbohydrates are your great source of strength and vitality.

But if they are not rightly prepared they may fail to give you their precious nourishment and may, instead, form actual poisons.

Dextrinized—the way your body wants them

In Grape-Nuts (made from wheat and malted barley) you get the carbohydrates in the most easily digested and most nourishing form. More than three-fourths of the content of Grape-Nuts are these precious carbohydrates.

Dextrinized, that is, scientifically broken down into the form your body most readily digests and transforms into strength and vitality.

Grape-Nuts starts digestion right
Grape-Nuts comes in crisp golden kernels you must chew. This chewing keeps your whole mouth healthy. It starts the proper flow of the salivary and gastric juices—the first step to sound digestion.

There is no other food like Grape-Nuts in form or taste. Served with milk or cream—a delicious well-balanced ration. Eat Grape-Nuts every day and see how much more alive you feel. All grocers have Grape-Nuts. Hotels and restaurants serve it in individual packages of a single portion.

Strength and vitality are stored for you in this delicious food

"Grape-Nuts is an excellent food to eat every day," says an eminent physician who has made a special study of the diet. "A simple nourishing food that in no way overtaxes the digestion and yet supplies an abundance of working power. The form in which the carbohydrates occur in Grape-Nuts—dextrinized—renders their nourishment available to the weakest or most abused digestion."

Free Sample Offer

Send today for four of the individual packages—free. Enough Grape-Nuts for four nourishing breakfasts. Free offer also includes book of 101 delicious recipes selected from 80,000 prepared by housewives who regularly serve Grape-Nuts.

Yes there is a better gas

WHEN does a Cadillac beat a Cadillac? Take two Cadillacs—same model—same year. Under ideal circumstances they should run the same.

Fill one with any gasoline and the other with Indian. You'll be amazed at the difference the better gasoline makes. The car is more lively, runs smoother and takes the hills like a breeze.

Your Cadillac, or whatever car you drive, will do the same. But how much better it will run with better gas you can't tell until you try—

You're one of the lucky ones. You're in the limited territory where Indian Gasoline is sold—a better gas—uniformly better—the output of one enormous refinery at Lawrenceville, Ill., where HAVOLINE Oil is made. It's obtained from one grade of crude oil—piped in from the surrounding oil fields; and the whole output is marketed exclusively in a small group of states.

COUNCIL VOTES LITTLE BUDGET OF $1,171,216

New Water Tunnel for the West Side.

Appropriations of $1,171,216, supplementing the $171,432,420 budget bill recently passed for corporate, school, and other municipal activities, were approved by the city council yesterday.

Expenditures of $519,855 from the water fund and $651,361.38 from the corporate purposes fund were authorized by the mid-year schedule to care for omissions or under-estimates in the March bill.

New Water Tunnel Approved. Construction of a new water tunnel, to serve the west side, and increased measures to protect the city's drinking water supply by chlorination, will cost $235,000, to be drawn from the water fund. A total of $600,000 was appropriated for the completion of the Roosevelt road and viaducts this summer, and $23,000 was set aside for the widening of 22d street.

For additional street cleaning service the aldermen appropriated $250,000 and authorized the purchase of 175 trailers, twenty-five ten ton trucks, and two ten ton tractors to complete the first phase of the street cleaning department's motorization program.

Ald. Ross A. Woodhull (Seventh), chairman of the finance committee, pointed out that the twenty-five trucks were to be purchased from the Mack Truck company, which has agreed to accept pay for the equipment from the savings effected as a result of a motorized street cleaning department. This saving has been estimated, the council was told, at approximately $300 a month for each truck placed in service.

To Buy Other Autos. The purchase of a Lincoln limousine for the use of John J. Sloan, president of the board of local improvements; a Spang-Knight limousine to be used by George Wright, supervisor of small parks and playgrounds; three Paige touring cars for the detective bureau, and six new patrol wagons for the police department also were authorized in the bill.

An appropriation of $23,900 for the creation of new athletic fields in various parts of the city was approved. An attempt to increase the rules to permit passage of an appropriation to increase the salary of Chief Justice Harry Olson from $12,000 to $15,000 and the salaries of associate justices from $9,000 to $11,000 failed. Only fourteen aldermen favored the move suggested by Ald. Guernsey (Sixth).

RUSSIAN ENVOY FAILS TO OBTAIN LOAN IN LONDON

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) LONDON, June 18.—Maxim Litvinoff will leave London tomorrow for Berlin without having met any success in his search for a loan for the Russian government. It is stated that he will return to take part in the Anglo-Russian conference, but this is uncertain.

The Tribune learns M. Litvinoff made a great effort to induce the five leading banking trusts of London to undertake the loan, and having been turned down he applied to the Rothschilds and other Jewish groups, but with no success. He then began negotiations with some smaller financial groups which have not been concluded. The cause of Mr. Litvinoff's failure with the banks was his inability to meet their demand for drastic changes in the Russian property laws.

UNEMPLOYMENT, RANKS REPORTED LARGER IN MAY

Washington, D. C., June 18.—(Special.)—Employment in manufacturing industries in the United States decreased 4.2 per cent in May, while pay roll totals decreased 5.1 per cent and per capita earnings decreased 1 per cent, according to bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. These figures are based on reports from 8,569 establishments in fifty-two industries, covering 2,604,259 employees, whose total earnings during one week in May were $68,078,862. The same establishments in April reported 2,717,244 employees and total pay rolls of $71,766,134.

The greatest decrease in employment and in pay roll totals were shown in the east north central geographic division. These decreases were 8.7 per cent and 7.5 per cent respectively.

"ADVENTURES IN GEOGRAPHY" The South Seas

"A magazine story settled it", writes Harry Leon Wilson. "Of the island girl in this, it was said that 'her face was mocking, elfish, faery'. (I am always to be had when they spell fairy with an "e".) Beautiful, unearthly—the girl was all that. And of course there were beach-combers coming haply upon a case of gin washed ashore from a wreck—square-faced gin, at that; native huts, breadfruit, copra, beche de mer, bananas both eating and cooking, and crystal-clear lagoons to mirror palms."

Right there Mr. Wilson started for the South Seas.

A COCKEYED CONGRESS

There is something radically wrong with Government when the convening of Congress, to which the nation should look for sound and constructive legislation, is regarded with apprehension and its adjournment is hailed with relief; when unsettlement and uneasiness pervade the business world during the session, and confidence returns and rehabilitation begins only after adjournment; when the country surveys the mess and consoles itself with taking stock of its resources and decides that perhaps somehow, someday, it can stand the gaff.

Won by a Nose

By James French Dorrance

SYNOPSIS.
In a customs shanty, in the Mexican border, Theodore Talcott is preparing his report when he is interrupted by a man who tells him that he is the owner of Broken Arrow ranch and because of the drought he wishes to drive her herd into Mexico. Talcott offers to join the outfit and accompany her to the drive. Ruth arrives home to learn that Dudley Hales, her nearest neighbor, is there to make arrangements for taking care of her cattle on his ranch, through which flows a large creek.

INSTALLMENT IV.
RUTH REFUSES HALE'S TERMS.
At the porch edge Flame paused, suddenly in the grip of a limitation of her sex. She had not seen young Hales in months—not since that eventful afternoon when she had refused his too pressing invitation to slope. Now that he had come through in the most pressing crisis of her life—now that he had become her benefactor, it would never do to greet him as a dusty, trail worn tramp in riding rouse. She sent her maid to the kitchen entrance. She had divested herself of trail garb, enjoyed the bracing effects of a shower, and was slipping into a fresh outfit of blue voile when her aunt tapped gently upon her door.

A slight little person was Aunt Emma, unwrinkled, white hair primly parted and brushed back, given to rustling silks for afternoon and evening wear, and inclined to simmer when unduly excited, as now.

"O, my dear—my dear!" she cried, embracing her niece. "Isn't this just too wonderful for all belief?"

"Unexpected, but mighty welcome," admitted Flame, freeing herself from the loving clutch.

Aunt Emma tried to help with the special toilette, of which she obviously approved, but was too nervous to be of any real assistance. Flame finally deposited her upon the bed and rushed on with the dress and evening gown.

"I never realized before, Ruth girl, what a superb masculine creature Dudley Hales has become," the little matron soon was enthusing. "He's the best looking man in Arizona and he'll make a wonderful mate for you—or any other lucky girl."

The girl's face was clouded slightly as she looked up from her mirror. "There hasn't been suggestion of anything of that sort this afternoon has there?" she demanded.

"Suggestion of what sort, my dear child?"

"Of any sentiment between Dudley Hales and me?"

"Aunt Emma gasped and gasped again. 'Why, of course not, you silly. But I'll admit, I'd be tempted to suggest—'

"Don't bother, aunt," Flame cut in. "There are some prices a Burton won't pay for grass and water if it never, never rains again in Arizona."

Aunt Emma took herself then to the kitchen and a last interview with Polanetta, the Cholo cook. Not many minutes later Flame was satisfied with the transformation she had effected, which, indeed, made her look most maidly.

At the door of the living room she paused a second, not to still extravagant pulsations, for she suffered none, but to caution herself. She must be duly appreciative, but not too thankful. No false hopes should be instilled. After all, her neighbor was only living up to the spirit of the range.

With that in mind, their meeting was shorn of all dramatics. And to this end came unexpected help from Uncle Amos.

"Not one word about this—about business," he decreed. "Not a single word until we have heard our inner man."

Dudley Hales was handsome, Flame admitted that to herself as they sat at table—a board which emitted dinner groans from abundance of food, even though the meal was called supper. He was tall and just enough to be well set up; fine chest and waist; with deep set dark eyes and a likable mouth. Groomed not too well, but quite well enough, he had an ease of manner that was marked in a land where most men fumble, except when in the open. She caught herself making comparisons between Dudley and Theodore, but checked her thoughts.

Prof. Harrington, their other guest, had elected, before he knew of her return, to dine with the outfit in the mess shack, so there was but one stranger at the table. All yielded to Uncle Amos' dictum—the drought and its attendant responsibilities were not referred to. Hales had just returned from Tucson, where his father dwelt in state, and brought back much gossip which he related with sprightly comment. The meal was over before Flame remembered to remark her surprising reunion with T. T. at the Pajarito station. No more had she contributed any account of her sojourn into Mexico.

"And now you shall hear from the lips of Sir Bountiful himself of great good fortune that has come to Broken Arrow!"

Uncle Amos, still surprisingly grandiose and out of character, made the announcement when they were again in the living room. He led Hales forward like a major general.

"You can't imagine how pleased I am at being able to help you out, Flame," began the younger man, crossing to the reading table beside which she stood. "I know the report has spread over the range that my father had turned the Cacti ranch over to me, but I was able, however, by making a personal issue, to win the day for the fairest blossom old Arizona ever produced."

The girl's eyes narrowed slightly. She had believed the reports that the neighboring ranch was Dudley's; had not thought she was asking favors of her father's enemy. Yet this did not really matter. Why not let the dead feud bury itself, since the grave seemed open?

"I hope I haven't embarrassed you, Dudley," she said without perceptible delay. "There has been no trouble between your father and myself over my request?"

He reassured her and offered his hand, as if to shake upon a compact. But Flame drew back. "Now that uncle has permitted us to get down to business brass at last, upon what terms am I to pasture on Cacti grass until our own comes in?"

"The terms are fine, Ruthy—excellent," put in her uncle. "As your executive, I've already thrashed out all the details with Dudley."

Aunt Emma, too, pressed into the group, for never could she endure being long out of the picture. "And just think, dearest, we can say good-by to the four of us—to silence, ruin, solitude, and—oh, for a year round home in Tucson!"

Her husband muttered something under his breath, and tugged meaningly at the lace upon his sleeve. But the harm was done.

Flame's eyes, as open as raised windows, looked from one to the other of the men. Hales lost his confident, congratulatory pose; fumbled in his pocket and brought out a folded sheet of paper.

"Good!" exclaimed the girl. "You have your proposition in writing. What's the matter with it that you didn't show it at once? I'm not to be stampeded, Dudley, you have reason to know, if you care to think back."

Sitting down at the table, she read a formal letter from Cacti Hales to his son, one doubtless written to be shown her if she proved businesslike. The ups missive set forth that the Cacti Cattle company had neither pasture to rent nor water to sell. As a special favor to Dudley, "not because it was good business," he was authorized to buy her cattle at the prevailing market, but only in case she would sell the Broken Arrow ranch for $25,000.

LOOK AT THAT FILE OF LETTERS AND WIRES FROM DOWN-TRODDEN VOTERS ASKING ME TO ENTER THE RACE FOR PRESIDENT—IT JUST GOES TO SHOW THAT THE PEOPLE ARE ANXIOUS FOR A REAL LEADER WHO IS 100% FOR THE PEOPLE—REAL AMERICAN WITH RED, WHITE AND BLUE BLOOD IN HIS VEINS—I'VE ALWAYS SAID IF A GUY HAS THE GOODS HE CAN'T KEEP IT A SECRET FOREVER—

I CAN SEE MOST OF THESE LETTERS ARE FROM THE BIG FAR-SIGHTED LEADERS OF EACH COMMUNITY WHO ARE SMART ENOUGH TO DO THEIR OWN SHOPPING AT THE ELECTION COUNTER—THEY DON'T WANT ANY REMNANTS OR WARMED-DOWN POLITICIANS FOR THEIR MONEY—THEY WANT A STATESMAN WHO IS ALL WOOL AND A YARD WIDE—IF THIS KIND OF MAIL KEEPS COMING IN I'LL BE CARRIED TO WASHINGTON ON A TIDAL WAVE OF AUTOGRAPHS—

I DON'T WANT TO SEEM OVER-CONFIDENT BUT IF THE PEOPLE OVER-ALL HAVE TO BOW TO THEIR SUPREMACY I'LL KNOW A LOT OF POLITICAL DARK HORSES ARE AS LIGHT AS FEATHERS ON ELECTION DAY—BUT THE WHOLE COUNTRY SEEMS TO WANT ME FROM THE LIONS CLUB OF AUGUSTA, GA., TO THE LADIES SEWING SOCIETY OF ZANESVILLE, OHIO—IT'S EASY FOR ANY SECOND-CLASS SPELL-BINDER TO CARRY HIS OWN PRECINCT—BUT I SEEM TO BE THE FAVORITE SON OF 48 STATES—

Good morning!
Not so good! "Thy name is Woman!" Strange, too, that it isn't. Look at the cast. It reeks with nobility and self-diffidence. It is a magnificent array of names, and it is a magnificent array of names.

Just the same it has cinema lumbar (I made that up all by myself) and it is NOT so good!

It would be mere waste of space to tell you that the players mentioned above can act. They can, and they do their best to put over a story that is not worthy of their efforts.

The beautiful Barbara La Marr is cast as the chaste wife of a smuggler known as Pedro, the Fox. Pedro is suspected and the government camps on his trial. A handsome soldier calls to have his coat made by Mrs. Pedro. His first appearance is, of course, to see if he cannot obtain information that will win a sergeant's stripes for him.

After that—well, you know Barbara! Lived there a man who would betray her?

From then on the film resolves more or less itself into a little sacrificial contest. Mrs. Pedro won't be outdone. The handsome soldier won't be outdone. The daughter of the commandant—who also loves the soldier, won't be outdone. Death, destruction and discipline have no chance against them.

The film is fairly well staged and if you feel in the least intrigued by the above statement of facts—go see "Thy Name Is Woman."

(It isn't so bad—you understand. It just should be a LOT better.)
See you tomorrow!

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question: Louis McLean, 110 East Chambers, Chicago, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.
Could the Democrats sail to victory on a wet plank?
Where Asked.
Lincoln park.

The Answers.
John Newbauer, 1254 Ingraham street, printer.—I believe they could if the men nominated on the ticket are on a par with the Republican ticket. Prohibition was put over during the war, but hasn't been given back to the public since. The public wants light wines and beer.

Helen Kurkiewicz, 1455 Blackhawk street, telephone operator.—I'd like to see light wines and beer come back, but I don't want to see intoxicated people running around the street. That's what without being soaked, isn't it? Well, a light percentage ticket ought to win.

Harold G. Smith, 2162 Cambridge avenue, musician.—On account of the eighth amendment being passed during a Democratic administration, they couldn't very well insert a wet plank and not be charged with inconsistency. Inconsistency and success don't go together.

Miss Alice Swan, 2950 Lincoln avenue, cashier.—I certainly do think so. That's really what the public wants, and if it were put in a plank so that the public could vote on it the wets would win. It is supposed to be majority rule in this country.

Irwin Schiefelbein, 2021 West 21st street, foreman.—That depends upon the strength of the men nominated on the Democratic ticket. The Republicans have a strong ticket, and unless the Democrats have a strong ticket their platform won't carry it for them.

The Guild, in a chuckling communication on the play's run of 215 performances, tells that the previous record for Shaw in this country was 198 for its own revival of "The Devil's Disciple," that displacing the score of 184 held by Robert Lorraine for "Man and Superman" which the Guild wipped out Arnold Daly's of 150 for "You Never Can Tell." (The figures are provided by the Guild, and have to do with New-York only.)

The shortest Shaw run in this country was that of "Mrs. Warren's Profession," shut down by the police there. . . . Incidentally, it may be added that the most satisfactory Shaw performances so far given in this country have been those of Mansfield in "Arms and the Man," Lorraine in "Man and Superman," the company headed by O. P. Heggie which gave "Androcles and the Lion" in Powers' late in 1915, and the English company which gave "Fanny's First Play" in the Blackstone early in 1914.

THEATERS

James Crane is announced to take up tonight the rôle of the make-believe Hindu mase in "On the Stairs." He was rehearsing in the play when taken ill, late last month. . . . It is told that he had the part in the New-York run, some time ago, after Arnold Daly gave it up. . . . Also, it is said that a prologue, acted in New-York but omitted in the Central performances until now, will be restored tonight.

A new bulletin on "The Amber Fluid" is that Miss Isabel Randolph has been engaged to perform in it. . . . She is known well in Chicago, having acted in "stock" in some of the outlying and suburban theaters.

Knox Wilson, whom Chicago regarded as a rare cut-up in the days when "The Burgomaster" and "The Land of Nod" were long-run excitements in the Loop, is to reappear in next week's bill in the Rialto. . . . And he asks to be remembered as the first actor to play the saxophone!

William Courtleigh is credited by the New-York papers with a hit in the rôle of an Irish boss in "So, This Is Politics!" He took over the part after J. C. Nugent gave it up. . . . The play is among the week's novelties down there, and is called so by the reviewers.

Elliott Nugent, son of J. C. and his father's co-author of "Kempy" and other plays, is mentioned as the star of "Engaged to Be Married," by Caesar Dunn, whose title little piece called "King for a Day" served Gregory Kelly for some weeks last winter in the Cort.

New plans for Miss Raquel Meller, the Spanish dancer, are that she will head a revue called "La Rue de la Paix." . . . With her in it will be Grock, who has been assigned to be the only funny clown in the world.

"Six-Cylinder Love" in which Ernest Truax had a rôle in the Harris, is to be made over into a musical comedy.

B. C. Whitney, who for a time managed and produced plays in what is now the Central, says he has arranged with the Theater Guild of New-York to tour "Saint Joan" next season, and hopes to engage the better players of the Guild to star in it.

The Guild, in a chuckling communication on the play's run of 215 performances, tells that the previous record for Shaw in this country was 198 for its own revival of "The Devil's Disciple," that displacing the score of 184 held by Robert Lorraine for "Man and Superman" which the Guild wipped out Arnold Daly's of 150 for "You Never Can Tell."
